WAR MISCELLANY.

Postal communication with Switzerland, Belgium and German Lorraine is regularly established, and three trains run daily to Mulhausen and Basle.

The troops in the line of circumvalation around Paris number 450,000 men. With even this number of men, however, the line, by reason of its great expansion through recent sorties, is very thin at many points.

Collections are being made in Strasburg for the French prisoners in Germany, and a delegate has been dispatched from that place with shirts and shoes. This is, of course, a manifestation of French sympathies.

Versailles, the present Prussian capital, is now one of the most strongly fortified positions in the world. Since the seat of Government of Prussia has been removed to that town it has been transformed into a fortress.

The Central Prussian Government at Rheims threatens to impose fines on towns, or on the friends of individuals, in all cases of absence from home or sudden departure of citizens subject to the conscription under French law.

In a balloon from Paris recently captured by the Prussians, were found several letters from members of the Provisional Government, all of which joined in very signal abuse of Gambetta, and in fears that his action would cause the ruin of France.

A Paris correspondent, writing from that city on December 4th, says that in the space of two months Paris has created and completely equipped 500,000 men-at-arms, and that General Trochu and his colleagues now have the utmost confidence in them.

The restoration of the houses in Strasburg that were injured or demolished during the siege has been for the present forbidden, as the streets are to be laid out on a different plan. The savings bank has been opened, and was thronged on the first day by 1,800 persons.

A London dispatch of the 31st December says: The intensely cold weather causes fearful mortality among the German wounded. Nearly all the occupants of fifty six carriages filled with soldiers wounded at the assault upon Belfort on the 21st December, were frozen to death before the train reached Chatenois.

Letters from Versailles say that King William has always expressed the greatest horror of permitting the Parisian population to starve, and the investment of the capital has worn upon him more than has all the rest of the war. This, no doubt is the merest bosh and gammon. He would annihilate Paris and its whole population if he could.

A letter from France to the New York Herald says: The German soldier and man is tough, serious, strong, intelligent and disciplined; the French soldier is weak-looking in physique and intelligence, small, frolicsome, and with a devil-may-care swing that ignores that restraint meant by military discipline. The generals are not to be compared; the French, above all others requiring management and leading, have simply none. As for the French people, they are humiliated and consequently wear a most serious aspect; but at the bottom I have found them equally as garrulous and extravagant in their calculations as if they had not been the recipients of the terrible lesson.

A French Leonidas.

[Paris letter to the Chicago Tribune.]

I do not know whether the following incident, occurring during the late battle at Orleans, has reached you or not; but, as I have seen it in a private letter just received by a citizen of Versailles, I shall subjoin it.

The Duke of La Rochefoucalt de Doudeauville is one of the most illustrious names of France. Although legitimists, the family, through its liberality and efforts to improve the fate of their tenants, not only suffered, but has been respected during all the changes which the government of France has had to undergo during the last century. The present Duke was an opponent, though a passive one, to the Empire. He occupied himself with his immense estates in and around Doudeauville, in the Department of the Loire. Although not actively engaged in the defense of his country, he contributed largely toward it by the aid of his princely fortune.

The German troops, while moving down upon the south, found the Duke at his chateau. Whether he had the presentiment or not that the Army of the Loire would be defeated, and with it the last hope of France, the ruin of which he did not wish to survive, is not known; but it is known that La Rochefoucalt, finding himself and property within the battlefield, was determined to strike in defense of his dear beloved France. He knew it to be madness for him and his 300 forest guards, with whom he intrenched himself in the castle, to offer resistance to a whole army. But what is life to a man after the ruin of his country? Like Leonidas, with his 300 Spartans, at Thermopylæ, so died La Rochefoucalt, with his 300 guardsmen, in the castle of Doudeauville. Thus it appears that the heroic age is not as yet entirely extinct.

TWO THOUSAND DEATHS A WEEK IN PARIS.—"Spirido" writes from Paris to the Boston Gazette:

The mortality has risen to 2,000 per week of which smallpox is responsible for nearly 500. Young children and old people die in numbers, like forest leaves in October. Dysentery, typhus fever, diarrhœa, and bronchitis are extremely fatal. Nine hundred people had, in Paris alone, gone crazy by the first of November, in consequence of the harassing hours in which we live. Since then the numbers have continued to increase until the mad-houses have begun to over-flow into the prisons. It is said to be still worse in the provinces, where the peasants see the savings of a life-time destroyed in an hour. Strange to say, the blows fall heavier on the young than the old. The former are on life's threshold. They have put the savings of their earlier years into a rented farm; the family has contributed to set him up; this one has lent money; that one has lent cow, sheep, hog and horse; another has contributed furniture; others have contributed agricultural implements. In instances innumerable cattle have been driven to the invaders' shambles, and all the rest of the property reduced to ashes or to splinters, good only for firewood. In debt, the sources of further supplies dried up, without a cent, these young men find themselves doomed to toil till life's meridian before they can again find themselves where they were three months ago.

The industrious and indefatigable Mr. J. S. C. Abbott has ready a volume on Prussia and the Franco-Prussian war, published in both the English and German languages. It aims to give a narrative of the origin of the Prussian kingdom, its past history, a detailed account of the causes and results of the war with Austria in 1866, and an account of the origin of the present war with France, and of the extraordinary campaign into the heart of the Empire, with sketches of King William and Bismarck, in a volume of 300 pages, with portraits and maps. We need not add that it is a subscription book. A little surprise may be felt at finding this reverend author, the panegyrist of Napoleon III., appearing as the herald of Prussia's victories; but such is the fortune of war. It is not to be inferred, however, that Mr. Abbott has changed sides; he sticks by his old idols, sees nothing to smile at in the Saarbruck "baptism of fire" dispatch, and glorifies the Empire to the last page of his book.

The "Eastern Question."

THE RUSSIAN REPUDIATION OF THE TREATY OF 1856—A NEW SEBASTOPOL WANTED.

[St. Petersburg Letter (Dec. 12) to the London Daily News.]

It would appear that Russia has for a long time past entertained the idea of repudiating the Treaty of 1856 as soon as a favorable opportunity offered, for I learn from a perfectly reliable source that as a substitute for Sebastopol, which, of course, could not be rehabilitated as an arsenal and port for ships of war, another locality has been selected, and the works carried on there so silently and secretly ever since the year 1863 that nothing has transpired on the subject, and even here, in the northern metropolis of the Empire, the people have been kept in happy ignorance of the preparations already made in the extreme south. The site chosen for this new and important place is the town of Poti, at the mouth of the river Rion, on the eastern coast of the Black Sea, and only some few miles distant from the Turkish frontier, which separates Circassia from the Russian province of Georgia. It is close to the lake known to ancient geographers as the Palæostoma, and from its close proximity to Circassia must always be a standing menace to Turkey. A railway has already been commenced, connecting Poti with Tiflis and the Caspian Sea, down the valley of the river Kur. Though the town and the railway terminus are both on the left bank of the southern arm of the Rion, the docks and other works of the new port are being constructed on the northern side, as offering greater facilities for the objects in view, and the sum expended on them till the end of last year amounted to 1,167,000 silver roubles. As, however, neither the wooden piers that were built out into the sea nor the dredging operations that have hitherto been carried on without intermission are able to keep the harbor free from the accumulation of mud and sand brought down by the Rion and deposited at its mouth, an alteration in the plan of operations has become necessary, and piers, faced with solid stone masonry and filled up with concrete, are now being pushed out in the sea to a great distance, so as to allow vessels of war drawing thirty feet of water to enter and leave at all times. The width of the basin so formed is to be 3,000 feet, thus affording safety and accommodation for a large number of vessels. It is further proposed to build a heavy dam across the Rion, which is navigable for some considerable distance into the interior, in order to prevent the sand from silting up the port in future; but in that case, as the river navigation is much made use of by the small craft of the inhabitants, it would be needful to make a lock or basin with flood-gates to admit the passage of the vessels. On the other hand it is proposed by the engineers to utilize the Lake Palæostoma, which forms a natural basin, and it would not be difficult to cut a channel of communication through the neck of land that separates it from the Euxine, though the cost in either case is estimated at 3,000,000 roubles.

Secretary Boutwell.

EXPLANATION AND DEFENSE OF HIS FINANCIAL POLICY.

[Washington dispatch (Dec. 31) to the N. Y. Herald.]

The Secretary of the Treasury seems to be much amused at the newspaper criticisms, indulged in so freely of late, concerning his policy of hoarding gold and greenbacks. He asserts that his critics are ignorant of the facts which they discuss, and are not aware of the condition of the Treasury. His policy, he says, is not to hoard any more than is necessary to meet the public obligations and keep him from going upon the market to borrow. By the act of Congress passed at the last session to provide additional banking facilities and for other purposes the Secretary of the Treasury is obliged to redeem the three per cent. certificates as fast as the circulation is issued to the national banks. This is for the purpose of preventing inflation. Four millions of national currency have been issued to the national banks up to the 1st of December, and two millions since, making in all six millions. An equal amount of three per cents had, according to the law, to be redeemed in greenbacks. It will be seen from this that the currency balance of the Secretary was well employed. On the 1st of January, 1869, the coin balance in the Treasury was seventy millions and the currency balance eighty millions. The amount on hand at the present is eighty millions of gold and twenty-four millions of currency. This appears to be a large balance both of currency and gold. The Comptroller of the Currency states that there are applications for circulating notes from national banks under the recent act of Congress to the amount of thirty millions. Of this sum he thinks that at least fifteen millions will be granted, or, in other words, that enough banks will comply with the act of Congress to secure the issue of $15,000,000 in currency. Thus every million dollars issued to the national banks will require the purchase of an equal amount of three per cents, the money for which is to come out of the currency balance in the Treasury Department. On the 1st of January the Secretary will be required to pay out $32,000,000 of gold for interest on the public debt. Besides this there are $10,000,000 of gold belonging to interest on the public debt which has not been paid, but which is liable to be called for at any time, making in all forty-two millions out of the eighty millions which is as good as paid out. After the 1st of January the gold balance will not be so large, owing to the fact that the receipts from customs will be less under the new tariff which goes into effect. In view of these facts the Secretary does not see his way clear to change the policy which he has heretofore pursued.

GERMAN REINFORCEMENTS—CONDITION OF THE GERMAN ARMIES.—Even the oldest landwehr men have now been called out—those who entered the army in 1853. Some of them who were then twenty-three years old, having availed themselves, and having been permitted to do so, of the extreme term accorded by the law, have reached the maximum of forty years of age. This extraordinary levy, which permits the formation of four more divisions of landwehr, has a very particular object. The men are to be the future garrison of Paris, partly, too, of Metz and of Strasbourg, where they will take the place of the present garrisons. By this means two more army corps will be set free, after the surrender of Paris, for further operations that might become necessary. It is, however, presumed that these operations will not extend beyond what is necessary to complete the occupation of France as far as the Loire, the Saone and the Rhone, and to clear that part of the country from every vestige of French forces. Nothing is lacking for the outfit of the new armaments, neither muskets, guns, nor swords, which will partly be provided out of the enormous booty of French arms. Toward the middle of January the newly drilled recruits will proceed to France, to take the place of such of the reserves as have completed their service in the standing army and may now return with leave for some time, afterward to pass over to the landwehr, garrisoning the fortresses at home and watching the French prisoners. The numerous cart drivers, which the counties (Kreise) have had to furnish to the army, will likewise be supplanted by a new set. Volunteer drivers are also engaged. They will receive while in Germany sixteen shillings a day, without lodging and food, and when in France fourteen shillings, with lodging and food. The Royal Saxon Artillery, which hitherto has been left at home alone, is now likewise making off to France.—Berlin letter of the London Times.

Dispatch from Yreka.

YREKA, Jan. 18.—A storm of rain and snow prevailed throughout California yesterday, and about noon telegraphic communication was interrupted on Trinity Mountain. The storm continued during the night, with high winds, causing several additional breaks. The line will probably be working through in the morning.

Home Protection and German Success.

The world has not yet recovered from the surprise it has experienced in the rapid and complete success of Germany in her contest with France. The position held at the opening of the war by the latter nation, with the prestige of military prowess she has so long enjoyed, had blinded the popular mind as to her real condition and weakness. Thiers, Gasparin, Trochu, and other of her deep thinkers and writers, were conscious of the hollowness of the seemingly solid social and governmental fabric under which they lived; but their prophetic voices fell on incredulous or unheeding ears, until the echoing tread of German legions on their own soil awakened Frenchmen, and imminent danger brought serious thought of their condition and necessities. We have yet to see, however, from the pen of any one of her leading minds a clear and truthful statement of the causes of decline in French character and achievements: or what it is that so suddenly has given invincibility to German arms.

One thing is certain, the French of 1810 and 1870 are two very different nationalities, as are those of their German opponents of the same eras. What are the reasons of this change. In our view they are the result directly of two policies, adopted by Germany, and neglected by France, viz:

Educated industry, and the Zollverein, ... German Customs Union, for the ... of their home industry. It ... in some respects France has a ... tion policy, but nothing to compete with the Zollverein, and it has no provision for the education of its people.

The whole industry of Germany has gained new impetus under its wise regulations.

For instance, in 1825 Germany exported to England 26,000,000 pounds of raw wool, receiving her pay in English cloth, thus showing that wool was cheaper in Germany than in England while cloth was dearer. In 1851, after twenty years of the Zollverein, Germany imported 25,000,000 pounds more wool than she exported, and ... 000 pounds of woolen cloths ... woolen cloths had become cheaper, ... raw wool dearer, in Germany than in other countries; the price of the raw material and the finished article approaching each other in consequence of the extensive development of German manufacture. Can it be ... that the Prussian farmers, as growers of wool and wearers of cloth, were not ... the higher prices they received for their wool and the reduced prices they paid for their cloth? Or that as tax-payers the Germans were not profited by the fact that while their manufacturers were struggling into ... with those of England and France, the ... in large measures paid the German ... of their own pockets for the privilege of sell ing their goods in the market ... ing the German tax-payer of so ... burden? That the Germans a... were enriched is shown by the fact that they consume more woolen goods by ...,000,000 pounds annually than they did under free trade, and when they imported their cloths from England.

Like facts touching the growth of her iron, cotton, and other industries, and of her farming prosperity might be given.

In their operation these policies have intensified the love of home, fostered all industries, and made the German people a compact, intelligent, self-reliant and prosperous nation.

When the challenge of war came from France, immense armies of thinking bayonets promptly marched to the conflict, each having a household at stake,—with an intelligent conviction of the importance to himself of all the questions at issue. It was just this phase of enlightened and individual responsibility, that gave to the men of the North, in our country, in their late contest with slavery, one of their leading elements of power and final victory.

It seems to us this example of Fatherland should have its due influence upon the minds of our German citizens who are now solicited by Free Traders and Revenue Reformers to lend their aid in the establishment here, of a policy, just the opposite of that which has given victory to their brethren at home in the present crisis.

The people of no other nationality, in coming among us, have shown a greater love of our institutions, or desire for the prosperity of our Union. Will they in the United States abandon the advocacy and maintenance of a system, the operation of which, in their native land, has won for them such power and prosperity? The works of our distinguished countryman, Dr. Carey, the great apostle of Protection to Home Industry, are now passing through the press at Berlin, in the fourth large German edition, and are the text-books of Political Economy in all the great universities of Germany. Will these volumes find less readers or hearty endorsement from intelligent Germans, who by the accident of emigration find their home on American soil?

Let us look at another example. In 1810 where was German ascendency in Europe? And what at that period was the position of England? How are those relative positions reversed to-day? And for what causes? Simply those we have stated. The protection of the Zollverein, with the intelligence, that as a necessary sequence has come to the masses, from the wealth it has brought them, has placed Germany to-day in the front rank of European nations.

The Free Trade of England, with the poverty and ignorance it has brought to her common people, has so crippled her power, that to-day, from being the first in rank, she is degraded to the third in point of influence, and with her former powerful ally, is a terrible example of their disastrous political economy; and while she yet has money—the earnings of a former protective policy—she lacks men, who have been driven from her soil by free trade, or emasculated; and without them her riches are but a mill-stone to sink her still lower in the scale of nations.

These contrasts are not the pictures of fancy; and while the solid victories of Germany are the valid evidences of the health and wisdom of her scheme of economy, the timidity, vacillation and selfishness of England, are the portents of that coming trial by which she will be compelled to an utter abandonment of her free trade theories, and their disastrous results, or give immediate occasion for another Hume, to write the History of her decline and fall!

The natural and historic construction of the German mind,—by which, in all ages it has so largely contributed to the growth and progress of the mechanical arts,—makes this question of Protection to Home Industry, as connected with this country of their adoption, and their future prosperity in it, one of the first importance to them, every way. Any one of this people conversant with the record of his native land for the past fifty years, can see how immense has been the progress there in all that makes up the welfare of a nation, since the adoption of the Zollverein as the permanent policy of the country.

Prosperity or disaster more quickly follow the adoption of any policy here, where freedom of action for all causes, is so much greater than in the conservative atmosphere of Europe. It took a generation to develop the ripe fruits of the Zollverein in Germany; it has required but ten years of a like just Economy, to bring such riches and resources to the United States, that the result has called out the astonishment and admiration of the world. Shall this policy so happily entered upon, and fortunate in its results, be perpetuated, and the development and prosperity of all our industries be permanently assured, or shall the theory and practice of British Free Trade, foreign in name and intents to our own, be adopted in this country, and entail upon us here, all the misery and degradation that has come to England and France through its influence.

Germans of America with the example of Fatherland in her protection and resultant power, before you, intelligently and thoughtfully decide this question, which is so deeply fraught with weal or wo to yourselves and your prosperity.—"The Bureau,"—Chicago Ill., Dec. 1870.

Washington a Social Saratoga.

The Washington correspondent of the Pittsburg Chronicle speaks of the Capitol as a "social Saratoga":

And what is a charm exclusive to Washington society is, that it is accessible to all who have respectability enough to claim access to it, and possess a degree of refinement and intelligence indispensable to its enjoyment.

Many people who are not familiar with Washington form an erroneous opinion of its social system. They fancy that its society is walled in, and that the entree to it is by some difficult and precarious avenue. This is a great mistake, and if our far-off cousins, who come from the North, the South, the East, and from toward the setting sun, to see the curiosities, would extend their investigations beyond the public buildings, they would go home with something pleasant to relate and many agreeable things to remember. An attendance at an ordinary reception would impress them with the belief that a thousand well-dressed, well-bred people assembled in gorgeous reception halls form a pleasant scene to look upon by gaslight.

COUNT BISMARCK'S PROJECT.—A Frankfort correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph says:

To-day I have received a curious and interesting letter from an officer at the German head quarters. Among other items which he mentions is one which eminently shows the care and foresight of the Germans in their determination to provide against any possible contingencies. The complete project of a war upon Great Britain was planned out as exactly as that of a war against France long before the present struggle commenced. Count Bismarck, my correspondent states, was urged by South German delegates to take the present opportunity of mediatising all the Kings and Princes, and making the unity of Germany Prussified a fait accompli. But he withstood the temptation, although the German republicans offered him all their influence, as he chose rather to reserve a pretext for keeping open action for the time when the Austrian Germans shall be ripe—as it is supposed they soon will be if Magyar influence is brought to bear upon them oppressively, of which many people think there can be but little doubt. Count Bismarck recently said to a great German republican who was preaching the infallible necessity of a German republic sooner or later, "My dear sir, I am a republican, but the time is not come yet."

The potato had about as hard a time as the tobacco plant in its early introduction among European nations. For more than two centuries its use was strongly opposed, until at last Louis XV. wore a branch of its flowers in public, and this royal sanction overcame popular prejudice and the consumption of the root became universal in France.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 19, 1871.

Material Growth and Progress.

In Alison's History of Europe there is a striking narrative of the great changes wrought in England by the introduction of the railway era, and the immense stimulous given by it to every species of industry. The results there described are truly marvellus. Even so old a country as England was awakened to new life and energy. Capital found good investments; labor obtained profitable employment, and the vast sums disbursed in the construction of the roads brought plenty and content to the working classes, flowed into every avenue of business, and produced a complete revolution in the internal condition of the country.

Something of the same sort is going on in every part of our own country where a railway system is building. The wonderful enterprise and development of the new portions of the country is attributable mainly to rapid extension of railroads. In no case is the axiom that wealth begets wealth more fully verified than in railway construction. Here in Oregon we begin to see it all around us. In the construction of the one hundred miles of railroad from East Portland south, probably between three and four million dollars have been expended. Already the increase in the value of property, especially in lands, is more than double that sum. The extension of our railroad system, which will be rapid from this time forward, will produce results of still greater consequence. A multitude of industries, hitherto unthought of among us, will rise into being. Business enterprise will [illegible] to find new and profitable avenues. The construction of so great an amount of capital will expand business in all directions. Henceforward this country will not slumber as as long heretofore. Our people, and especially the business classes, must adapt themselves to the new order of things that is now coming upon them. Our old methods will not do. They will not answer for the new era. He who does not wake up to these realities will find after a while that all of the more active ones have rushed by and left him hindermost. The community that does not awake and follow the prevailing spirit of the times will suffer the same thing and meet a like fate.

Bad, Very Bad, for the Little Demagogue.

In the Eastern States, as well as on these Occidental shores, there was a general agitation a great while ago of the Chinese question. Seventy-five members of the "Heathen Chinee" family went to work at a shoe factory in Massachusetts, and all over the country the Democratic sky was turned blue at the harrowing horrors described to the faithful by Democratic orators as about to overwhelm our shores in the shape of a Chinese inundation. The great Anglo-Saxon-Celtic-Teutonic-Caucasian race was to be utterly overslaughed. Yet the aesthetic city of Boston, that hot-bed of all the isms of the rest of the universe, did undertake, as we learn from an Eastern journal, to call down the wrath of the gods, and to import the heathen for household service. Now for the startling result:—the Chinese [illegible] Palmer, the contractor, who [illegible] his willingness to supply Chinese labor at the Hub, states this fact over his own signature and says that he can't fill his orders. He also declares that the Chinese consider [illegible] regard us as barbarians, among whom it is not desirable for celestial beings to live. In vain as the chronicler tells us, Mr. Palmer represented the luxuries of Boston fish-balls in private families; in vain he offered an exhilaration of pork with the balmy bean; in vain he appealed to personal friendship with Ah Young, a "correspondent of mine," or pressed delicate pecuniary considerations upon those whom he would contract with. Granting these astonishing premises, there seems to be nothing for it but to give in adhesion to Mr. Palmer's view when he remarks, "I have always regarded the Chinese discussion as premature." This nightmare over, [illegible] a chance to breathe again. But what are our Democratic politicians to do? The little Demagogue, Gov. Grover, and all his kind—what are they to do for materials for stump speeches hereafter? 'Tis a grave question.

The Confederate Spirit.

It seems now to be generally admitted that no general amnesty bill will pass at this session of Congress, and it may be doubted whether such a bill will pass at the next. Among Republican members of Congress, and in the Republican party, there was a growing disposition to pass an amnesty bill of very general scope, a bill which should remove disabilities from all except the principal leaders of the rebellion, numbering perhaps two hundred persons. But the spirit which those who demand amnesty are evincing, has checked the movement. They are reactionary and vindictive. They do not accept as a fixed fact the groundwork of reconstruction. They want to overturn the constitutional amendments. "The impeachment of Gov. Holden of North Carolina by these men," says the Sacramento Union,—a paper which has of late been very "conservative" in its tone, and found more to censure than to commend in the action of Congress,—"the impeachment of Gov. Holden by these men, at the very moment when they are sending Vance, an unpardoned rebel, to the Senate of the United States, has an air of insolence and malice well calculated to deaden the sense of charity which the nation was beginning to feel toward the leaders of the rebellion. This act is backed by a conspiracy in Georgia, headed by Toombs and Stephens, to treat the whole business of reconstruction in that State with contempt. We submit that these acts on the part of the Southern leaders, for whose sole benefit a general amnesty is urged, are quite enough to justify Congress in an indefinite postponement of the bill." This is the general view that is taken throughout the country even by that portion of the Republican press which has been inclined of late to criticise severely the course of Congress and the Administration.

The Coming Woman.

In California a Woman's Rights Convention is now in session,—we believe at Stockton. The agitation by the advocates of "untrammeled lines for women" has been going on in that State pretty briskly for some time, and this "Convention" is a sort of first fruit thereof.

We are by no means opposed to this agitation. Free thought, free speech and free action are the heritage of women as well as of the stronger sex. But there is one error liable to grow out of this agitation, which ought to be avoided. The agitators, whether male or female, should not try to persuade American women that they are either miserable, or degraded, or ignorant. In these particulars the other sex certainly have no advantage over them.

Human society is entering upon new phases of development, of which the beginnings are still vague and indefinable, but whose gradual approach is nevertheless indicated by a multitude of signs, of which this very commotion in the feminine ranks is no insignificant one. The active movers in this agitation should, however, change the basis of discussion so as to discard the cant that woman is the slave of man and that she needs to be emancipated from masculine tyranny. Women, it is said, have not liberty to choose their own pursuits, their lives are "cabined, cribbed and confined," and they are not allowed to step out of the narrow circle of duties and employments in which they have always been engaged. Now in this, woman is not half so much a slave to man as she is to her own sex. Her sisters decry her when she attempts new pursuits, far more than her brothers do. It is "female tyranny" quite as much as anything else, that she needs to be emancipated from. Hence while we wish the active advocates of the movement general success, we hope they will not visit their whole denunciations and maledictions upon the "tyrant man."

Hon. W. T. Newby of Yamhill,—that is to say "Bill" Newby,—is making an effort to ingratiate himself, politically, with the people of his county, by subscribing to the $100,000 subsidy. He offers $250, and writes a pompous letter to the "litigant organ" in which he offers to give $250 more "if a majority of the members of Washington, Yamhill, Polk and Benton counties who voted for the $300,000 subsidy bill will subscribe $500 each." Now we submit that each of those members may not be as able to subscribe $500 as Mr. Newby is. They have not been dabbling in railroad funds for several years past, "making" large sums of money thereby, obtaining means to clear off thousands of dollars worth of mortgages from real estate, coming into possession of lands that were donated for railroad purposes, and in other ways making a pretty good thing out of the railroad agitation. Therefore Mr. Newby's proposition to them is hardly fair.

The London Examiner of the 17th December says: "The United States obtains its loans on worse terms than our own country, not because it is less able to repay them, but because its reputation as to willingness to pay is not so well established as ours." This additional interest, amounting to many millions a year, is one of the items we have to pay for the inestimable blessing of having among us a Democratic-repudiation party.

Outside of sixty-seven villages and cities in Ohio, the population of the State has increased but 80,000 in ten years.

Full returns from Georgia show that the Republicans have elected three of the seven members of Congress.

OREGON.

Some more parties at Salem, have been hauled up and fined for selling liquor on Sunday.

D. B. Ray of Jackson county, and J. A. Burnett of Clackamas, have been appointed notaries public by the Governor.

An examination of Clark, who killed Starke at Weston, Umatilla county, a few days ago, develops the fact that the homicide was justifiable. Clark was discharged.

At Gervais, the Station on the railroad in French Prairie, just above Belpassi and near the old village of Waconda, a town is building rapidly. There are now ten buildings in the course of erection.

The Statesman has the following intelligence from Yaquina Bay: The schooner of which we have occasionally heard as in prospect of building, is to receive her rigging and sails soon. The prospect is that another schooner will be built as soon as this one is out of the way. The steamer Elk has arrived from Umpqua, and after receiving repairs will run on the waters of the Bay. It is reported that some Portland gentlemen will build a fine steamer on the Bay the coming season. Oystermen are busy digging oysters and transplanting them to beds for more excellent cultivation. The new saw mill of Simpson & Co. is running steadily, and making large amounts of lumber.

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP.

The internal revenue receipts for the months of December, 1870, were $9,510,174 58, against $11,719,642 56 for the corresponding month of 1869.

It seems pretty generally settled that there will be a meeting of the Forty-second Congress on the 4th of March next and that an organization of the House will be perfected previous to the adjournment.

Officers of the army who are affected disadvantageously by the military orders to be immediately promulgated have, in a great many instances, been informed of the results in their individual cases. The orders to be issued will embrace assignments, retirements, and transfers of officers to the unassigned list. The suspense of all concerned is now at an end, the orders having been completed and actually ready to be transmitted.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has just received an additional sub-division survey of lands in central Oregon, extending for an area of 1,300,000 acres of land. The surveys are situated in Western Wasco county, between the Des chutes river and the Cascade mountains, and are chiefly valuable for grazing purposes, and a heavy growth of fine timber. Extensive wet tracts are found in some localities, caused by the damming of streams by beavers.

Secretary Boutwell does not feel sanguine of being able to place the loan provided for by the new loan bill upon the market successfully unless the bill is changed so as to allow a larger issue of bonds bearing five per cent. interest than the existing law permits, and of a smaller issue of those bonds bearing four per cent. interest. He has presented his views to the Committee of Ways and Means, and it is understood that the committee will report a bill which will meet the views of the Secretary on the subject.

Commissioner Pleasanton has issued the following circular: "It having come to the knowledge of this office that many officials of the Revenue Bureau absent themselves from their respective districts without having first obtained proper leave of absence, notice is hereby given that in the future such absence without leave will not be allowed. All permits now outstanding granting authority to Supervisors and other Internal Revenue officers to visit Washington, or to absent themselves from their districts when in their opinion the exigencies of the service require it, are hereby revoked. All officers who may hereafter receive permission to visit Washington will be required to register their names at this office, in a book which is provided for the purpose, stating their residence in this city, the extent of their leave and by what authority granted."

THE TERRITORIES.

Major Truax has purchased a house and will reside at Walla Walla.

An incorporated company will erect a hotel at Walla Walla. It will be built of brick.

A petition is now in circulation asking that a mail route be established between Walla Walla and Seattle by the way of Wallula and the Yakima.

A letter from Warren's Diggings to a Walla Walla paper, gives a good account of quartz mining at the former place. Some of the rock yields $1000 per ton, but the only mill there is a poor thing.

A half breed boy of twelve years of age was caught in a wheel of a flouring mill at Waitsburg, while it was turning at the rate of 300 revolutions per minute. One arm and one leg were broken, one knee was dislocated, and the face and head were terribly bruised. The boy, however, is recovering.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Brigham Young is said to be writing a book on "What I know about Women." What he does not know would make a very small volume.

Mrs. Elisa Leeson, the oldest woman in Connecticut, died at the Hartford almshouse a few days since, having reached the great and almost incredible age of one hundred and eleven years and ten months.

Gerritt Smith has written a lengthy letter on the question of annexing San Domingo. He takes ground against it, but without severely censuring the President, to whom he accords patriotic motives in his effort at annexation. Smith believes that Providence has set the tropics apart for the exclusive use of the African and the other races who now inhabit them, and that the United States will do its duty better by affording them protection from other grasping Powers than by annexing any of their territory to this country.

The London papers contain the startling announcement that George Francis Train, on arriving in London, proceeded at once to the Reform Club, and inquired for Mr. Gladstone, Earl Granville and Mr. Forester. These officers had the discretion not to appear at this terrible summons, but it is useless for them to hope to escape this indefatigable censor of the nations of the world. It is really painful to think of the wrath which G. F. is nursing for them, and the consternation the whole British Cabinet will be in when he gets an opportunity to launch his rhetorical thunderbolts in their midst. When George Francis gets abroad among them European nations, the only resource they seem to have is to clap him in prison, and then they feel safe.

The Vanishing Point.

We give, from the Congressional Globe, the termination of the great Senatorial fight over San Domingo:

Mr. Carpenter—I think it quite manifest, from the course of this debate, that we have come very near to the point where we shall take a vote, and have no purpose to delay the Senate with a speech. Indeed, I have never witnessed a discussion in this body that seemed to me to be so profitless, that seemed to me to have fashioned itself so much upon the methods of forensic debate as this of to-day. We started out here this morning with very grave and formidable criticisms upon the President; but the debate, the interchange of views in the discussion of the different points here has finally whittled and faded away, till at last so far as I am at present advised, made by the Senator from Ohio, that the grave and important difference between his views of propriety and the course adopted by the President in this matter is this: The President, instead of submitting to the Senate the question, "Had I better make a certain treaty?" goes and executes the treaty in form and asks the Senate "Had I better deliver this treaty?"

Mr. Thurman—I beg my friend to allow me to interrupt him.

Mr. Carpenter—Certainly.

Mr. Thurman—So far from censuring the President for making a treaty without first submitting it to the Senate, I said distinctly that I had no doubt the President had information which to his mind was sufficient to justify him in making the treaty; and so far from saying at all that I censured the President in that, I only said that all this information was needed and is needed in order to enable us to know whether Dominica ought to be annexed. You who pass this resolution and say the information is necessary do condemn—not I condemn, but you condemn—both the President and Senate.

Mr. Carpenter—I have heard of the Yankee who whittled his stick down to a point and then cut off the point. The Senator had whittled down to a point when he spoke before, and I think now he has cut off the point, and I will leave it there.

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 19, 1871.

CITY.

THE EDWARD JAMES HEARD FROM.—Mr. Walter Moffett is in receipt of letters from the Captain of the bark Edward James, also from Judge McCoy, who went out in her as passenger to Hong Kong. The letters were dated Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, December 16th, 1870. The vessel had encountered a succession of extremely severe gales, and was twenty-seven days from Astoria to Honolulu, having been blown several hundred miles out of her course. For twelve days the sea ran so heavy that it was with the greatest difficulty any cooking was done on board. A sea came over the vessel, at one time, which carried a cabin sky-light and poured about three feet of water in upon the cabin floor. Several water casks were stove and the water lost. This was the principal reason for putting in at Honolulu. The Captain fearing that his remaining supply of water might be short, made for port to obtain a larger supply. The James was to sail again for Hong Kong on the 18th. The Chinese firms who were consignors by the vessel also received letters from their Chinese friends on board the James. These letters speak very highly of the vessel as a first rate sea-going craft, and of their treatment by the Captain. Everybody was well and having weathered the gales, in good spirits.

COMPLIMENTARY MATINEE.—The Vieuxtemps brothers will give a matinee at Philharmonic Hall, at half past 2 o'clock, Friday afternoon, on which occasion the following programme will be offered:

1. Piano solo, by Carl Vieuxtemps. "Song of the Mocking Bird," arranged by Vieuxtemps.
2. Song, "We drank from the same Canteen." Lute and Carl.
3. Piano solo, "The Storm at Sea," by Carl. Music arranged by Carl.
4. Song, "Mother Dear, I'm Weeping," by Lute. Words and music by Vieuxtemps.
5. Piano solo, "Le Zengari,"—Carl. From Lembach.

SEEN AT SEA.—Capt. Flanders, speaking yesterday of the phenomena mentioned in the OREGONIAN yesterday morning, said that when at sea he had several times seen similar appearances—balls of light which moved about among the rigging of the ship. Sometimes these strange apparitions assumed the form of stars, as described in an item of yesterday morning. The sailors, being generally superstitious, always looked upon these visitors with much awe till they moved away, and they considered it a good portent if the light finally rose and got above the masts before disappearing.

MILITARY.—There seems to be a good deal of stir, lately, in military matters in this city. We learn that, in addition to the formation of an artillery company for which a meeting for organization has been ordered for next Saturday evening, there are movements on foot for two more companies one, infantry and one cavalry. The application for the infantry organization has now thirty-five signatures, forty being required. Steps are being taken, also, to effect a battalion organization which will probably include all the infantry companies organized or to be organized.

SERMON ON REFORM SCHOOLS.—Rev. Mr. Eliot will preach a sermon next Sunday at the Unitarian church on the subject of "Reform Schools for Boys," giving histories and statistics of such schools in other States. Mr. Eliot has had some experience with such public reformatory institutions, and we are informed that he will offer some practical suggestions in regard to the mode of making a beginning in this city.

REAL ESTATE CIRCULAR.—William Davidson, real estate dealer, has lately prepared a second edition of his circular and map, for distribution in the East, containing some valuable geographical and statistical information concerning Oregon, principal products of the State, yield of crops, prices of labor, public schools and churches, climate, distances, etc., etc.

[illegible] NOTICES.—At 10 o'clock this morning, at the court house door, Jacob Stitzel, guardian of the minor heirs of Wm. Ebinger, deceased, will sell at auction lot 8 in block 30, Couch's Addition—Mr. A. B. Richardson, auctioneer.

MESSRS. DYER & BUNTING have opened a shop on Second street, between Stark and Oak, where they will manufacture carriages, wagons, coaches, etc., and will do all sorts of blacksmithing. They are said to be capable and reliable business men who have had years of experience.

LARGE FOREIGN SHIPMENTS.—The shipments to foreign ports thus far in January, aggregate larger than for any equal period in the history of this port. The departure of the Gungner, yesterday, swelled the total value for this month to $64,156 15. For the month of December the total foreign shipments were valued at $39,299.

NEWSPAPER PLANT.—We are informed that the parties who have for some time contemplated the establishment of a newspaper at East Port land were negotiating yesterday for the material of the late Evening Commercial.

FOR LIVERPOOL DIRECT.—The bark Gungner sailed yesterday for Liverpool direct. She took 13,424 sacks wheat, equal to 25,365 bushels, or 1,509,949 lbs., valued at $29,409 67.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS.—Mr. H. L. Herman has retired from the firm of Herman & Murphy and will hereafter devote himself exclusively to his editorial duties upon the Sentinel.

GONE TO SEA.—The barks Lyra and Atlantic and the ship Montgomery Castle put to sea from Astoria, the former two on Sunday and the latter on Monday.

FOR THE NORTH.—The propeller steamship California, Hays, Commander, will sail at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Victoria and Puget Sound ports.

THE COURTS.

Wednesday, Jan. 18, 1871.

FOURTH CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—State of Oregon vs Neville and Fleming—habeas corpus—taken under advisement till to-morrow. The question argued and submitted is whether upon a hearing of the habeas corpus, the Court can hear oral testimony. Under the law, no written testimony is sent up from the Court below. If it be decided that testimony shall be heard, the proceeding becomes a re-examination of the original charge against the defendants, which may result in discharge or committal.

COUNTY COURT—HAMILTON, JUDGE.—In Probate—Petition of the next of kin of A. McQuinn, deceased, to be appointed Administrator of the estate of deceased; petition taken under advisement. J. H. Smith for petitioner.

MISSING.—A man named Chris. Wagner, employed in Mr. J. B. Congle's saddlery establishment, has been missing since 2 o'clock last Sunday morning. When last seen, he was in a saloon near the corner of Yamhill and Second streets, in a state of intoxication. Nothing has been seen of him since, nor can anything be learned of his fate, and strong suspicions are afloat that he has fallen a victim to foul dealing.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—Mr. Bates had a very fair benefit audience last evening, notwithstanding the extremely unfavorable state of the weather, and the numerous diversions elsewhere. The elegant comedy of "The Jealous Wife" offered a fine field for the beneficiary to display his dramatic ability, and we hardly need say that he filled it well. We have rarely ever seen him upon better mettle. And he was very effectively supported by Mrs. Bates and the rest of the company. The rest of the bill was performed as advertised, and proved, in every respect, quite satisfactory to the audience. The same bill, one of the best of the season, will be presented again to-night.

SKATING RINK.—The proprietor of this place of amusement can certainly have no cause of complaint, as he had his full share of all the people who went out last night. The floor during the afternoon and evening was kept pretty well filled with a gay and festive throng. The fun seems to increase rather than diminish. Quite a number of persons have already become quite expert, and they perform feats which appear to the unpracticed spectator, really astonishing. This morning and afternoon reserved for ladies and their escorts.

PANORAMA.—There will be an exhibition of the Panorama of "Paradise Lost," at Philharmonic Hall, this evening, commencing at half past seven o'clock.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

REGULAR MEETING, JANUARY 18, 1871.

Present, Mayor Goldsmith, presiding and Councilmen Besser, Bills, Breck, Congle, Cree, Drake, Hallock and Hill.

EASEMENT TO PORTLAND BRIDGE CO.

A communication was received from the Portland Bridge Company, asking an extension of six months of the time in which to present to the city maps of the surveys of the site of their proposed bridge, and stating that is necessary to make charts of water currents, etc., before such maps can be completed. The communication was laid on the table.

STREET DRAINAGE.

A communication was received from D. C. Lewis and others, relating to damage to private property on College street. It represented that the Street Commissioner had thrown up earth in such manner as to cause an undue proportion of water to run down College street—more water than the drains can carry—and that such flooding of the street had caused great damage to private property. The communication asked for relief. It was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Mr. Breck said that a ditch has been cut on the west side of Harrison so as to obviate the flood of water down College. There was trouble, also, of the same nature on Harrison street.

A communication was received from J. P. O. Lownsdale and others, complaining of damage by floods of water down Harrison street. It represented that an undue proportion of water from a ravine of Robinson's Hill and other parts of the upper end of the city, had been turned into Harrison street. The communication was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

PETITIONS.

J. H. Hatch and others petitioned for the erection of a lamp at the intersection of North Fourth and E streets. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

S. M. Lyons and others represented that they had constructed a sidewalk on 150 feet of East Park street between Oak and Stark, and asked that the the owner of property abutting on the remaining 50 feet, be required to construct a sidewalk. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

John P. Farmer asked for the use of a part of a street for building purposes; granted.

The Sisters of Charity and others asked for a permit to improve a part of Mill street; and E. Johnson to improve a part of South First street—granted under the usual restrictions.

PORTLAND GAS CO.'S BILL.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom was referred the bill of the Portland Gas Co., on which a drawback of $68 had been held, reported that they found the indorsement of the Street Commissioner on such bill, was incorrect; that on the nights in question, there were no lights in consequence of the freezing of water in the water drips, and recommended the payment of the whole bill.

Mr. Hill asked for information—whether the accident was the fault of the city or of the Company? If the latter, he did not think the city ought to pay the bill.

Mr. Breck said the company had been very liberal with the city and the committee did not think it right, under the circumstances to dock the bill.

Mr. Hallock said the Company was not at fault. They have nothing to do with keeping the lamps in order. The city has a contract to do that and if the lamps were out of order it was the fault of the city.

The report was adopted.

NEW HYDRANTS WANTED.

A communication was received from the Chief Engineer, recommending the placing of fire hydrants at the corners of Fourth and Madison and Third and Harrison streets. Referred to the Committee on Fire and Water.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid: T. Patterson & Co., advertising, $4 50; T. Hitchcock & Co., stationery, $22; H. L. Pittock, advertising, $7 92; A. G. Walling, $16.

NEW ORDINANCES.

An ordinance, to amend ordinance 987, relating to employment of waiter girls in saloons. [Provides penalty for employing female waiters without license—violations to subject the offender to fine of $100 or 20 days imprisonment.] Read three times and passed.

An ordinance, to provide for the taxing and killing of dogs. Read three times and passed.

An ordinance, to change the time for filing maps by the Portland Bridge Co. and to modify the contract with said company. [Extends the time of filing maps six months.] Passed.

An ordinance, to provide for cleaning streets. [Different from the old one in respect of requiring the occupants of property to clean the streets; putting the supervision of the work, in case it is done by the city, under the charge of the Chief of Police, instead of the Street Commissioner; and providing a penalty for neglect or refusal.] Read first and second time and laid over.

An ordinance, to amend ordinance No. 142, to prevent and remove obstructions upon the sidewalks. [Owners or agents to repair sidewalks at their own expense; forbids the hanging of banners, etc., over or across the streets except on public or general parade days; forbids hanging or placing signs over sidewalks at less than nine feet high; occupants to remove dirt and filth, etc., from streets; provides fine of $5 to $25, for violations of the ordinance.] Passed.

Two ordinances to provide for working of city prisoners were introduced and referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

An ordinance to establish grades on South Front, First, Second and Third streets—referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

THIRD READING OF ORDINANCES.

The ordinance to provide for the time and manner of improving South First street between Lincoln and Woods was read third time for information.

Mr. Hill offered a substitute, which was adopted.

Mr. Hallock moved to refer to the Committee on Streets and Public Property, which was lost.

Mr. Hallock moved that the ordinance be read third time and put upon its passage.

Mr. Congle moved to amend the motion so as to lay the ordinance on the table. The motion prevailed.

The ordinances making an appropriation out of the railroad fund, and making an appropriation out of the general fund to the railroad fund, were indefinitely postponed.

HALLOCK RISES TO A—JOKE.

Mr. Hallock offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Chief of Police procure a dozen to twenty red flags and present them to the "dozen to twenty persons" who called upon a sick lady before the physician knew she had the small pox, and that he request each of the persons to fly the flags when passing the OREGONIAN Office, so that the editors of that journal need not be further exposed without knowing it. [Laughter.]

Mr. Hill moved to refer the resolution to the proprietors of the "Litigant Organ." [Great Laughter.]

Mr. Besser moved to refer the resolution to the Committee on Health and Police.

Mr. Congle moved to lay it on the table—which prevailed—amid much laughter.

SEWER FOR FRONT STREET.

Mr. Besser offered a resolution directing the Auditor to give notice of the intention of the Council to construct a plank sewer across Front street at its intersection with Lincoln street—adopted.

December is here, with her storms and her rain,
And it makes the folks of cold weather complain.
Hark ye, dear gentlemen, this need not be so,
You can all be kept warm, for O'NEIL & CO.
Can fit you so nicely, so snug and so warm,
With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there,
Unlike Flora McFlimsey, can find something to wear.

A BETTER TONIC THAN QUININE.—Calisaya bark of the primest quality is a prominent ingredient of PLANTATION BITTERS. With it are combined the juices and extracts of a variety of aperient, anti-bilious, anti-spasmodic and anti-septic vegetable substances, and these properties are conserved and rendered diffusible by the pure spirit of the sugar-cane—the most genial and harmless of all stimulants; but this inestimable bark is, after all, the most important medical agent contained in the Bitters. In the various complaints for which quinine is prescribed, PLANTATION BITTERS may be given with the certainty of producing all the good effects claimed by the faculty to result from the use of that dangerous alkaloid, without the fear of any subsequent evil consequences. The entire harmlessness of the Bitters is guaranteed, the testimony on this point, from the highest sources, being conclusive.

SEA MOSS FARINE from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

Have you a Cough Cold, Pain in the Chest, or Bronchitis? In fact, have you the premonitory symptoms of the "insatiate archer," Consumption? Know that relief is at hand in WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

SOZODONT.—All dentrifices had their drawbacks, until the salubrious bark of the Soap Tree was brought from the Chilian Valleys, to perfect the fragrant Sozodont, the most wholesome, reliable and delightful article for the tooth that a brush was ever dipped into.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," always up to the sticking point.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS
MILL FURNISHING GOODS, WOOD-WORKING
MACHINERY,
RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING, FARM WAGONS, GRASS SEEDS, ETC., ETC.

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, somewhat noted for truth and veracity—"so called"—persist in affirming that they are "bogus," "California made," etc.

Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE, and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer; who, after "looking 'round" and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc., delivered himself thusly. "Well, Myers, I'll just chance a couple of those new plows, and if they are 'bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I'll be d—arned if I won't take bogus in mine every time."

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received. It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market, in point of material, workmanship and finish, having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago—have never yet had a tire re-set, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first class wagon, and WARRANT them such, and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with "inferior makes" that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr. Bain for this market.

The Western School.

[From the New York Independent.]

A vigorous and full-flavored literature is growing up in the West. The period of echoes and imitations, of feeble reproductions of bad models, during which the Poet's Corner of The Louisville Journal was the delight of the reading youth of the Southwest, has gone by, and a school of writers is now coming up on the further side of the Alleghanies who have a message of their own to deliver, and who are uttering it in a way distinctly their own. It was naturally to be expected that the new and vivid life of California, filled with the boldest and most adventurous elements of the East and West, should be the first to inspire a characteristic literature. The spirit of the grotesque has so far greatly tinged the Pacific school. Its leader and founder was Lieut. Derby, whose Phœnixiana are even yet unrivaled in [illegible] absurdity. Dr. J. W. Palm[illegible] mous writers of the Pior[illegible] beginning in that field [illegible] which has since been so [illegible] work [illegible] by Mr. Francis Bret Ha[rte] and Mark Twain, [illegible] well-earned and [illegible] two gentlemen [illegible] [illegible] and ill-informed reviewers who [illegible] nothing of the earlier efforts of the [illegible] school, and only the most recent [illegible] two clever Californians who [illegible] public by storm, to imagine [illegible] have a monopoly of [illegible] hunting in the [illegible] writer [illegible] devoted [illegible] a poem [illegible] Mr Palmer [illegible] clumsy imitation of Mr Harte. We [illegible] investigate the [illegible] silence [illegible] years in advance of his brilliant competitor as a delineator of the Western character [illegible] less than fifteen years ago, that he published a poem [illegible] Monthly called [illegible] reviewers [illegible] bold plagiarism [illegible]

There is nothing so easy [illegible] say that when two works bear the naturalistic semblance arising from coincidence of [illegible] place, and local color, the one is stolen from the other. Of course all writers who work in the same age more or less influence each other. If Mr [illegible] had never lived we should never have [had] the "Luck of Roaring Camp." If [illegible] had never created Policeman X, it is doubtful if Mr Harte would ever have [illegible] the immortal bard of Table Mountain. This detracts nothing from the rightful credit and fame of these exquisite productions. A true genius takes his property where he finds it. Milton used everybody, from Job to Du Bartas, and Shakspeare robbed all [illegible] with sublime [illegible] that he poured in [illegible] than he took out. It is only mannikins and idiots who have a style of their own, uninfluenced by the current literature and the spiritual atmosphere of the time.

There are too many people in the valley of the Mississippi and beyond to give to any men or set of men the monopoly of the [illegible] of their lives. There will not be many writers who will equal the contagious drollery of Mark Twain. It may be long before we find another that can touch so deftly the hidden sources of smiles and tears—that can give us so graphic a picture of Western living, in a style so vivid and so pure that we may call it in praise and not in criticism "almost the true Dickens," as Mr Harte has done. But there are many good and honest literary workmen who have grown up in the great West, not unmindful of its strange and striking lessons. Some of them, Howells among the best, have already given some earnest of the promising future. Others are just rising into notice. Let them be received with candor and judged by what they say—not by what others have said.

Henry Ward Beecher has a poor opinion of diaries. He says: Although my father never said anything to discourage the journal-keepers of the family, I had reason to believe that he never [illegible] kept one. I ventured one day to ease my own conscience for having left off this sacred duty, to ask him why he did not keep a journal. His reply came like a shot from an overloaded gun. "A journal is the devil's pillory, and fools sit in it." Every body sins, but they need not sprawl out on paper an account of it. If you write the truth, you ought to be ashamed, and if you don't, you ought to be still more ashamed. Then, I began thinking that this might be casting [illegible] on some of his kin, he went on to say that perhaps some folks might be profited by it. Everybody was not alike. But he didn't want, when he was dead and gone, to have folks fumbling over his private feelings, and he didn't mean to give them a chance. That was the last of my journal.

A Boston paper says: "The Traveller of this city is extensively advertising the publication of its eighteen column review of 1870 by Mr [illegible], one of the pet literary phenomena of Boston, a man with the historical faculty as abnormally developed as the arithmetical in Zerah Colburn, or the musical in Blind Tom, a man who has reviewed the events of every week every Saturday afternoon in the same paper, and has done similar work in other journals, who crystalized the events of the decade in seventeen pages of Harper's Monthly, and whose habit is to write off this sort of matter at a sitting without a reference to a note or authority, at the rate of a newspaper column in forty-two minutes."

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a preemption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government; The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, and dislike to new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of the complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is ready and willing to give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

EAST PORTLAND, [illegible]

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE [illegible] SHARES [illegible] [illegible] printed and a large [illegible] The following extracts from the Daily [illegible] give a good idea of the plan and [illegible] of the land, etc., etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

[illegible] whose organization [illegible] is now ready [illegible] Homestead Association [illegible] that kind in this city, it may [illegible] what are its [illegible] which it is proposed to [illegible] The purpose of these Associations are [illegible] in the ordinary sense of the word. They [illegible] the profits of their investment [illegible] advance in the value of their [illegible] the operation of many [illegible] shareholders, and the advance on [illegible] surrounding lands by reason of the [illegible] a point on and demand for room [illegible] still near the city. The Riverside [illegible] has a fraction over one [illegible] twenty acres of land situated just [illegible] on the east side of the river [illegible] boundary lines being about one [illegible] ferry landing at East Portland. The [illegible] in one strip along the [illegible] in length, and another strip [illegible] California railroad, half a mile in [illegible] strips being connected near the [illegible] rows of blocks [illegible] whole forming a figure not [illegible] It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 [illegible] streets running at right angles [illegible] lots along the river front. The [illegible] 600 worth $50 per share. It will [illegible] a share that [illegible] divided interest in the [illegible] fractional shares are to be sold off at the [illegible] for the benefit of the Association [illegible] coming in for the pro rata [illegible] number of shares held. When [illegible] taken and the Association [illegible] come to do [illegible] will be put up at [illegible] bidder, the pro rata of such [illegible] the original price of [illegible] equally among the whole [illegible] Thus, if a person wants a [illegible] and is willing to pay $100 or [illegible] or less as the case may be) he [illegible] the lot or block as his individual [illegible] premium being divided among [illegible] of shareholders. It will be seen [illegible] everything is co-operative, and [illegible] No man can make a dollar [illegible] out also making a dollar for [illegible] shareholder. There is no [illegible] the property, by some [illegible] far below the first actual cost [illegible] liable to happen in the case of [illegible] tract of land must be judged by [illegible] but considering the steady and [illegible] values on real estate in this [illegible] hood and at East Portland [illegible] last year or two, it [illegible] valued to go back.

In the Riverside [illegible] tions seem to have been [illegible] man's portion of shares. No [illegible] buy more than the number of [illegible] three blocks or twenty four lots [illegible] terminating the operations of the [illegible] cation [illegible] in the [illegible] manner. [illegible] may pay down $50 per [illegible] exempt them from all [illegible] pay $15 quarterly with an [illegible] share, payable with the first [illegible] liable in this latter case to [illegible] other) [illegible] payment of $2 per [illegible] payment of the shares in full, with [illegible] as above, the holder [illegible] and his proportion of all the [illegible] all sources. No officer of the [illegible] any pay for services [illegible] gate $25 per month [illegible] expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying [illegible] a high plateau, nearly level, about [illegible] above the water. There is no [illegible] row of blocks but [illegible] Portland and the river for [illegible] [illegible] That part of the tract [illegible] railroad is, every foot of it, of [illegible] soil and adapted to [illegible] little stream of pure water [illegible] almost the entire length of this [illegible] affording the means of [illegible] ficient to supply pure water to every [illegible] whole tract. There is not a [illegible] in the entire tract. Under all [illegible] it would seem impossible that [illegible] be any chance of loss to [illegible] yet each shareholder, if he [illegible] perfect title to as many lots as [illegible] [illegible] or he may [illegible] vided with the Association [illegible] while the [illegible] may exist.—[illegible]
